DIFFICULTIES BLOCK ADVANCE OF THE TREATY
Arms Conference Will Continue Well Towards End of January.
BALFOUR TO STAY
Supporting Provisions of Pact Will Contain Many Changes.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Difficulties in the adjustment of the five-powered naval treaty, and more particularly in connection with the Far East side of the armament conference, have arisen in such numbers as to make it virtually certain that the treaty will continue well towards the end of January, it was learned today.

Arthur J. Balfour, head of the British delegation, who had planned to sail for England, Saturday, has cancelled his passage and will remain in Washington for another ten days at least.

Behind the closed doors of the Pan American building where so many momentous decisions have been reached in the last two months, the big five, today, began final consideration of the naval treaty which will set the limitations in ships, guns and building until 1937.

In its essential features—the fleet ratios and the ten-year building holiday—the treaty is understood to remain unchanged from the lines originally laid down, but in the supporting provisions there have been details inserted that are of vital concern to the signatory powers. How many of these will be knocked out in the final diplomatic bartering, or how many others will be added before the treaty text reaches the public remains to be seen. It is accepted, however, that the treaty will be unchanged in its keystone provisions.

Chief among the supporting provisions of the new pact, as it was taken up today, are understood to be the following:

1.—Any of the signatory powers can renounce the treaty upon giving due notice to the other four powers. This provision is designed to take care of possible war, when no nation would want to be bound by the limitations agreed upon here.

2.—The powers can be called together for amendment or revision of the treaty upon the request of any one of the signatory powers.

3.—The life of the treaty will be fifteen years, or until 1937 although the replacement building is not to start until 1931, so far as Great Britain, the United States and Japan are concerned. France and Italy will be allowed to build one ship a year for three years beginning in 1927.

4.—Present surplus must not necessarily be scrapped. Six ways are laid down under which they may be saved from the scrap heap and converted to peace time uses if desired.

5.—Guns on merchant ships will be limited to six inches and merchant vessels will be so constructed as to not be capable of mounting guns of greater calibre.

6.—None of the signatory powers may build for other governments, whether in or out of the treaty, ships exceeding in tonnage or armament the figures laid down in the treaty.

This last provision was designed to overcome many objections that shipyard and ship workers were doomed to idleness under the cessation of building originally proposed. The nations now can keep their yards and workers busy if they can get the business and at the same time the treaty powers can rest content that no outside nation is building greater ships than they themselves possess.

SMALL INTEREST IN SECOND TRIAL
San Francisco, Jan. 10.—The trial of D. R. S. Walker for embezzlement was speeded to a close today in order that the second manslaughter trial of Roscoe "Patty" Arbuckle may open tomorrow.

Interest is at a low ebb in the trial, this being evidenced by the small crowd which turned out for the appearance of the film star for his second arraignment.

Counsel were concerned today chiefly with the length of time the trial will occupy. It is expected that it will take the balance of the week to get a jury. Attorneys for both sides predicted the trial itself can be completed in two weeks after the jury is selected.

Knowledge that the jury is to be locked up is expected to act as a deterrent to prospective jurors entering the box and thus make difficult the work of selection. A panel of 65 jurors will be on hand tomorrow.

HARD STRUGGLE TO OVERTHROW BRIAND STARTS
Say Premier Deceived Chamber of Deputies On His Plans AGAINST PROGRAM
Body Will Oppose Acceptance of Moscow Government It Is Believed.

Paris, Jan. 10.—Another hard struggle to overthrow the ministry of Premier Briand is forecast in the session of parliament which began this afternoon.

It was stated that only minor questions would be discussed pending the return of the premier from Cannes at the end of the week. As soon as M. Briand gets back the chamber of deputies will take up foreign policy and the results of the supreme council meeting.

A canvass of the members of the chamber indicates that it will oppose recognition of the Moscow government by France and will refuse French consent to an indemnity moratorium for Germany.

There was slight optimism among the deputies as to the results of the Cannes meeting. Many declare that Briand deceived the chamber when he announced that he was going to Cannes with his hands free and that France was not bound to any cut and dried program.

Dispatches from Cannes have revealed that M. Briand and Premier Lloyd George undertook certain engagements at London which the French premier wished to repudiate when the supreme council met. The London program referred chiefly to German reparations.

COURT TO CONFIRM PROPOSED SALE OF MOTOR COMPANY
Plants of Allen Motor Firm To Go for Sum Of $570,000.

Columbus, Jan. 10.—Federal Judge Sater here today is expected to formally confirm the proposed sale of the Bucyrus and Columbus plants of the Allen Motor Company by the Receivers to Frank P. Shaw, Chicago, for $570,000.

Statement is made that Mr. Shaw, who has been connected with the automobile business for a number of years, represents another auto company. That Mr. Shaw plans to operate both the Bucyrus and the local plants for the manufacture of motor cars is the announcement made by H. C. Runyon, treasurer of the Allen company who has been executive in charge of the properties under the receivership. He said operations are to start at once.

The sale price, plus cash in bank and accounts and notes receivable, it is said, will permit of the distribution of about $625,000 to creditors.

Merchandise creditors hold claims against the company totalling about $1,250,000. There are also contingent liabilities amounting to $2,000,000 for contracts unfilled and goods undelivered but in process of manufacture when the receivership was ordered. The court is to decide whether these creditors will receive anything.

Newberry Explanation Is Not Entirely Accepted

Senator Borah and Other Progressive Republicans of Senate Refuse Plea That Accused Was Not Personally Responsible.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Charging that the election of Senator Truman H. Newberry was "tainted" by the "corrupt use of money," Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho today attacked Newberry's right to retain his seat.

A canvass of the Republican side was said to have disclosed enough votes to insure an administration victory although a number of progressive Republicans flatly declined to vote for Newberry.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Senator Borah and other progressive Republicans of the senate refused today to accept the explanation of Senator Truman H. Newberry that he was not responsible personally for the expenditure of nearly $200,000 in the Michigan campaign of 1918, which resulted in his nomination.

Senator Kenyon and other senate progressive declared that the primary law was at stake in the issue which the Michigan senator had raised and that the principle involved was whether a candidate might become the beneficiary of a corrupt election, even though he subsequently absolved himself of personal participation in it.

It was understood that Borah would

MAINTAIN SILENCE ON WAGE CUTS IN R. R. SHOP CRAFTS
Chairmen Enter Second Session Tuesday In Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—General chairmen of the federated shop crafts unions maintained silence today as they entered the second session of their conference here to consider action on wage cuts and working rules recently promulgated by the U. S. Railway Labor Board. The conference is secret and officials attending the meeting refused to give out any statement. Six unions with a combined membership of nearly 500,000 men are represented at the conference. They comprise the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor. The sessions may last several weeks before a decision is reached.

The shop crafts voted last summer to strike against the wage reductions announced by the labor board on July 1. This action later was held in abeyance pending the decision of the board on working rules.

Despite the silence of the general chairmen, it was considered likely that the conference before adjourning will authorize a new strike vote covering both the question of wage reductions and the working rules.

Old Courier-Journal Building Destroyed By Fire Tuesday.

FORMER SKY-SCRAPER
Baltimore Fire Takes Toll of Two Lives; Thrilling Rescues.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 10.—The old Courier-Journal building, Fourth and Liberty streets, in its day a "sky-scraper," containing forty tenants, was destroyed by fire early this morning with an estimated loss of between $500,000 and $1,000,000. The blaze started in a jewelry store on the fourth floor and baffled the efforts of the entire fire department to check its spread. Explosions soon followed in a photographing shop on the top floor and added a fireworks display to the scene.

The building built with bricks brought from England at a cost of $200,000 was a show place of middle-west, and Kentucky for a number of years and was built by General William Bruce Haldeman, and it was here that Colonel Henry Watterson wrote many famous editorials.

The damage to the building is between $400,000 and $500,000.

The new Courier Journal building about half a block away was several times in danger but firemen succeeded in diverting the flames.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 10.—In a fire that swept three dwelling houses in the 1200 block of Wilcox street here early today a man and a woman lost their lives, an aged woman was overcome by smoke, a man rescued his wife and four small children from their burning home and another family was compelled to flee, clad only in their night clothing. Policemen and firemen figured in a number of thrilling rescues. The fire, of unknown origin, started in a summer kitchen of the McAleer home and spread with great rapidity.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 10.—A fire starting at 5:20 o'clock this morning in a five and ten cent store on Fifth Avenue in the heart of the congested district resulted in an estimated loss of $275,000, brought out half the city's fire department on a four-alarm call and put the downtown burglar alarm system protecting stores and numerous banks entirely out of business. Two firemen were overcome and one of them was sent to a hospital. At 9:30 the fire was under control. At one time a serious conflagration was threatened.

GIRL 19, SHOT BY FIANCE WHO TURNS GUN ON HIMSELF

Refused "To Kiss and Make Up" After Quarrel—Tragedy Follows.

Cleveland, Jan. 10.—Because she refused "to kiss and make up" following a quarrel with her fiance last night Mary Hadee, 19 is dead, today and her fiance, Alfred Barbiero, 19, is held in city hospital, seriously wounded under police guard, on a charge of murder.

Last night when Barbiero called at his fiancee's boarding house, he found her ready to go to a picture show with another man. He insisted that the engagement be cancelled and they quarreled, police say. Barbiero is said to have then remarked: "Kiss me goodnight and I'll go home. We'll settle this some other time."

The girl refused the kiss and police reports say Barbiero pulled a revolver from his pocket and shot Miss Hadee three times. She died within an hour. He then turned the gun upon himself, inflicting two wounds in the chest. He will recover, hospital authorities say.

BRITISH REFUSE ALLIANCE PLAN

London, Jan. 10.—The proposal for a concrete alliance between England and France binding the two countries to mutual military protection has been turned down by the British cabinet, it was reported today. The report was not officially confirmed.

At the request of Premier Lloyd George, members of the cabinet forwarded their view regarding the question of Britain guaranteeing France against unprovoked attack in the future.

THINK FUNDS USED TO FINANCE GANG OF BOOTLEGGERS

St. Louis, Jan. 10.—Search for Arthur O. Melinger, missing cashier of the Night and Day Bank, which was closed last Friday, following discovery of defalcations of at least $260,000 was started by police yesterday on the theory that he had used some of the money to finance a "bootlegger's ring."

Police said the had "authoritative information" connecting Melinger with the ring, which it is alleged to have been organized to transport whiskey to the United States from Mexico. Certificates for 700 barrels of bonded whiskey were found in Melinger's effects.

A considerable part of the defalcation was through cashier's checks and drafts in New York institutions it was said.

All depositors will be protected, it was announced definitely.

GRIFFITH ELECTED HEAD OF IRISH FREE STATE

KILLS HUSBAND IN SELF DEFENSE

Pittsburgh, Jan. 10.—Struggling to protect herself and her three little children from the blows of a hammer in the hands of her husband, George Koomis, Mrs. Emma Koomis yesterday told the police that she shot him twice at their home in Forest Hill, a suburb. Koomis died later in a hospital.

Mrs. Koomis, who was brought to the county jail with her 3 months old baby in her arms, according to the police, said she and her husband quarreled while they were at supper.

Her husband, the police say, seized a hammer, and the woman, with her children, ran into an adjoining room. She seized a revolver and when the man followed her she fired at him, the bullet striking him in the arm. As he continued to advance, she fired again and again, the bullets going wild.

Finally he fell, and gathering her children around her, she waited until the police came.

Action of Allies Taken As Russian Recognition

British Government Officials Declare Invitation to Send Representatives to Conference May be Construed as Formal Acceptance of Soviet.

London, Jan. 10.—The British government officials today declared that the invitation of the allied supreme council to Russia to send representatives to the forthcoming international economic conference might be construed as formal recognition of the Moscow soviet.

Lenine is understood to have sent word to London that George Tchitcherin, the commissar for foreign affairs in the Moscow soviet would have to represent Russia at Genoa. For certain reasons Lenine does not desire to enter Italy.

A five power economic conference may be held in London in March, it was intimated in Downing street circles. Lenine intimated in his note that he could attend a conference in London, personally. It was proposed at Cannes to hold an economic conference in Genoa. Whether the London meeting would supplant the Genoa conference or would be supplemental to it was not made plain.

POSTMASTER HAYS OPPOSES MEASURE AGAINST PAPERS

Bill, Passed in House To Kill Racing News Is Scored

Washington, Jan. 10.—Postmaster General Hays, in a letter today to Senator Nelson, of Minnesota, chairman of the senate judiciary committee, came out squarely in opposition to a bill recently passed in the house, which would make it an offense for newspapers to publish racing news.

The bill was primarily intended to prevent transportation of lottery and cheating devices through the mails, but one section, according to Hays would seriously affect newspapers.

NEW PRESIDENT ANNOUNCES HIS CABINET HEADS

Devalera and Adherents Bolt Dail Eireann On Tuesday.

PROVISIONAL ONLY
Whole Question Will Be Referred to People In Election.

Dublin, Jan. 10.—Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein was today formally elected president by Dail Eireann (the Sinn Fein parliament). Griffith succeeds Eamonn Devalera who resigned because the Irish peace treaty was ratified by the Dail.

Griffith announced his cabinet as follows:

Foreign affairs: George Gavan Duffy.

Finance: Michael Collins.

Defense: Richard Mulcahy, chief of staff of the I. R. A.

Home affairs: E. J. Duggan.

Local government, affairs: Deputy Cosgrave.

Economics: Deputy Higgins.

President Griffith and his cabinet constitute the provisional government of the Irish free state, which will shortly take over all administrative authority in Ireland (outside of Ulster), from the British Eamonn Devalera and his adherents bolted Dail Eireann.

Devalera gained the floor and said that he could not remain in the house while voting was in progress for Griffith. Accompanied by fifty-five of his followers, he left the hall. The deputies who remained then made the election of Griffith and his cabinet unanimous.

"The election of Griffith would deprive the office of president of the Irish republic," exclaimed Devalera angrily as he passed out of the chamber.

Devalera insisted upon knowing whether Griffith would act as "president of the Irish republic."

"I shall hold the same powers as were held by my predecessor, Mr. Devalera until the Irish free state officially comes into being," replied Griffith.

Deputies holding the front benches engaged in heated exchanges.

Collins accused the Cork republicans of "using black and tan methods." He charged the Cork adherents of Devalera with compelling the Cork Examiner to publish a certain political proclamation.

Speaking on the motion to elect him president of the Irish free state Griffith said that the whole question of Irish peace would be referred to the people as soon as possible in a general election. This action will be for the purpose of choosing deputies to the new parliament which will be held under the law creating the Irish free state.

The Griffith-Collins faction, which secured ratification of the Irish peace treaty, will be opposed by the Devalera-Brugha faction which opposed ratification. There will be a bitter struggle for control of the new parliament.

Griffith actually began the formation of the new government yesterday giving rise to a premature report that his task had been completed and formally approved.

FIRE ENDANGERS FERRY STEAMER

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 10.—Prompt action by Captain Pocock and members of the crew of the ferry steamer Pleasure, plying between Detroit and Windsor, Ontario, probably averted a panic last night that might have endangered the lives of hundreds of passengers.

An automobile caught fire while the vessel was in midstream.

The flames quickly spread to life preservers and other inflammable parts of the rear of the vessel.

Instead of sounding a fire alarm, Captain Pocock ordered the wheels man to return to the Detroit dock while the crew confined the fire to the lower rear deck, where automobiles were parked.

The passengers fled off the boat in orderly manner and harbor fire apparatus extinguished the blaze with but slight damage.

ALLEGES POLICEMAN STOLE AFFECTIONS OF WIFE; STARTS SUIT

Charging that he has alienated the love and affections of the plaintiff's wife, Della Jenks, Roy Jenks, well known Xenian and at present city street commissioner, filed suit in common pleas court here, Monday against Edward Wilkins, city extra policeman, asking $25,000 damages.

The suit was filed for the plaintiff by Attorney F. L. Johnson who also filed another suit in which Roy Jenks asks for divorce from Della Jenks.

The petition states that the Jenks were married August 16, 1899, and that they have lived happily together, raising two children, Reva, aged 20, and Harold, aged 18.—The plaintiff declares he lived happily with his wife until about a year and one-half ago, when Della Jenks became acquainted with the defendant Edward Wilkins. The petition charges that ever since that meeting they have been constantly together in each other's company, on dates unknown to the plaintiff had called on the plaintiff's wife at the home of Roy Jenks and Della Jenks, when Roy Jenks was absent, and remained with Della Jenks on those occasions for a long period of time.

The plaintiff charges further that on certain dates unknown to him, but on divers occasions too numerous to mention, that the defendant Edward Wilkins has taken Della Jenks on automobile rides and trips for several hours at a time, that they would meet in Xenia whenever the opportunity afforded and were in each other's company at all times possible. The petition states that such conduct has caused all the love and affection between Roy and Della Jenks to cease, and caused Della Jenks to leave home January 7, 1922 and cease to live with the plaintiff. For a second cause of action the plaintiff charges that the defendant Edward Wilkins has been guilty of committing adultery with Della Jenks on dates unknown to the plaintiff, and for the alienating of his wife's affections, he asks $25,000 damages.

In his petition for divorce from his wife, Roy Jenks charges the defendant with extreme cruelty, in that she continually associated with other men, and associated most with Edward Wilkins, a policeman, and by reason of this association had lost all of her love and affection for the plaintiff. The plaintiff also brings the adultery charges with Edward Wilkins into the petition as a second cause of action.

attorney, Marcus Shoup, naming A. E. Bales also as a defendant.

In the new petition the plaintiff who recently returned here from Florida, declares she married the defendant in April, 1914, and that they have one child, Gale, aged five years. She first charges her husband with being guilty of extreme cruelty for more than three years, charging that he struck and cruelly beat her and caused painful injuries and bruises.

In her cause for action, the plaintiff declares that for more than three years the defendant, O. M. Lees, has harbored in his home a woman named Mary With, so that he could practically cohabit with her in a state of adultery.

Two months ago, the petition states the plaintiff and defendant went to Florida to live and the defendant took or arranged to have the said Mary With meet him there. The petition states that said Mary With is now in Tampa, Fla., where the defendant meets and co-habits with her.

The plaintiff declares the defendant, O. M. Lees owns a house and lot in Xenia valued at $3,000 on which there is a mortgage and that said property was accumulated largely through the efforts and labor of the plaintiff, besides certain articles of personal property, which he will dispose of if not restrained. The plaintiff asks to have the custody of their child.

The plaintiff asks for a temporary restraining order against the defendant selling the property, that the order be made perpetual when the suit is decided, that the plaintiff receive the interest in the property as alimony, and the custody of the child, and that A. E. Bales, a tenant in the property, be enjoined from paying further rent to the defendant and ordered to pay the rent to the plaintiff.

Sale Is Approved.

Sale of property involved in the partition suit of Mary Haines Moore against Oscar Pardee Day to Oscar Pardee Day has been approved in common pleas court, and the sheriff ordered to convey the property.

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 10.—Business is on the upgrade once more, according to W. J. Harahan, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio who inspected the local shops today.

Harahan backed up his statement by the announcement, the local shops running on less than half capacity would probably open at full capacity in February.

BILL TO ABOLISH DEATH SENTENCE IN STATE SPONSORED

Toledo, Jan. 10.—Legislation practically abolishing the death penalty in Ohio will be introduced at the next session of the legislature by Representative Homer A. Ramey of Toledo.

Representative Ramey's proposal, as announced here, practically wipes out the electric chair sentence, yet retains this punishment for extreme cases and will serve as a compromise upon which the agitators for complete abolition of the capital sentence and the defenders of the death sentence could agree.

Under Ramey's proposal the present law would be amended to read that the penalty for first degree murder shall be life imprisonment unless the jury recommends death.

January Clearance Sale

Sale will Close Saturday-January 14th

WHEN such an occasion is offered for real economical buying—some of the Exceptional Values may be overlooked—and we now repeat a few of the items that are to be distinguished from the others in that these are either marked below Cost, or represent Values that have not been equaled or duplicated in this community.

We do not lay claim to any charitable motive in reducing certain selling prices below cost but it sometimes happens that a merchant will either overestimate his ability in moving certain stocks or he may buy some merchandise in excess.

What ever may be the cause, these conditions are now prevalent and we are again calling your attention to the following—Silk and Wool Poplins that sold from $2.50 to $3.00, now marked $1.69. Passy Willow Taffetas that were $3.75, now $1.69. Crepe Meteors reduced from $3.75 to $1.69 and Cheney Foulards, excellent for linings, also reduced from $2.75 to $1.69.

Another item not to be overlooked is the offering in Eagle Princess Dress Satins reduced from $3.00, and a few pieces of Skinner's Satin reduced from $3.75—both now priced at $1.59. Other exceptional values are shown in Fancy Taffetas, Lining Silks and Plain Messalines formerly sold at prices ranging from $1.50 to $3.50, now marked $1.00 per yard.

No less remarkable is the saving that can be made in purchasing your Wool Dress Goods now. Any one familiar with Botany Wool Challies will appreciate the reduction from $1.35 to 95c per yard. THE SUCCESS OF THE CONFERENCE.

The Christmas and New Year's holidays have come and gone without bringing the Washington armament conference to that state of finality and concrete results which a great many people were enthusiastically expecting and for which the Republican administration, which evolved the conference, was more calmly hoping. As a consequence an atmosphere of pessimism has descended upon the enthusiastically expectant, and the Wilsonite enemies of the conference are chuckling with fiendish glee.

There is justification for neither the glee nor the pessimism. Those who fear the conference is a failure, and those who hope it is, are justified in neither their hope nor their fear. For the conference on limitation of armaments was an irrevocable success, so far as the United States was concerned, in its very inception, and even should it terminate in what its foes would call a debacle it would be a success. That may seem to be a paradoxical way of looking at it, but let us.

The success, not the failure, of the conference—which probably will be concluded within three weeks, during which time a great deal may happen—may be summarized as follows:

1.—The Four-Power Pacific Treaty. 2.—The Five-Power Naval Holiday. 3.—The German Pacific Cables. 4.—Vindication of the Traditional Policy of the United States.

The United States will have had revealed to it, positively and finally, just where it stands in the eyes of the rest of the world and just where the rest of the world chooses to stand in the eyes of the United States. A conference capable of bringing about such an understanding, either formal or tacit, could not be a failure.

KICKING PEACE TO DEATH.

Fighting for time, for slipping prestige and, it may be, for the pure love of a fight, DeValera forced the Dail Eireann to an adjournment with a new set of proposals, his "Document No. 3." He has his own treaty to propose.

First he and his "die-hards" threaten to walk out of the Dail. Then the treaty supporters warn that they will "bolt." Speakers for and against the Anglo-Irish pact alternate. Not a vote seems to change as the Dail is washed under and borne down by coruscating cataracts of oratory.

The Irish people are trying in every way they know to make the "die-hards" understand that Ireland wants the treaty and wants peace. It is no use. The "extremists" ignore their constituents. In desperation the Dail adjourns to get away and think things over; to see what there is in the DeValera proposal.

It doesn't matter greatly what is in it. Lloyd George has warned that any change in the treaty makes it null and void, and England is watching the Kilkenny affair that is being staged in Dublin wondering at the new madresses that are afflicting the Irish. The perennial, unending, possibly eternal, Irish clamorings go on and on.

Do Irishmen know what they want or do they not? Are they incapable of actually making a decision and carrying it through after it is made? Will they be happy only when they have an England, one another, or some one else to fight?

It looks that way. Right now it is touch and go for the treaty, as the Dail adjourns to get away from itself. War-won Irish unity is in fragments. DeValera proposes to fight on for "a republic" or for a Free State of his own personal contriving. He has aroused bitter antagonism, deep, vital and personal.

Ireland had her real chance. She is kicking it away as fast as possible. A quick, emphatic ratification would have meant a real peace. Ratification now may mean anything or nothing in the future.

RUSSIA'S BLACK TERROR.

Worse than the red terror in Russia is the stalking figure of the plague, the typhus that is the sequel to famine and filth. The millions are perishing helplessly, and the heroic relief workers, including Americans, are giving their lives to succor the victims of circumstances in large part created by the utter inefficiency of Soviet rule in Russia.

Though the Bolshevik dictation apparently accepts with an ill grace the manifestation of American generosity in the gift of $20,000,000 and is harassing those who distribute to the afflicted, the work in the field will go right on. It must not stop because some Russian officials choose to bite the hands that are feeding the stricken multitude.

It is hard for Lenin and Trotzky to believe in the disinterested generosity of America. But their misrepresentations cannot forever keep the truth from the people. One of these days the latter will know how they have been deceived and will learn that their real benefactors are not those who are in the seats of the mighty at the Kremlin, but those who in distant America heeded and answered the cry.

Dixie: Tincture of benzoin is not in the least injurious to the skin. It is an excellent mild astringent. It will shrink large pores and make the skin clear and fine-grained if used in connection with other face treatments. The best daily treatment is to rub the skin with cleansing cream then wash with castile soap and hot water, rinse with hot water, then with cold, to which enough tincture of benzoin has been added to make a milky mixture. A few drops to a basinful is usually enough. It will not grow hair on the face.

M. I. N.: There are any number of correct ways of acknowledging introductions. Probably the simplest and easiest thing to say is: "I am glad to meet you." The only thing to avoid is "Pleased to meet you," this has been done to death, is provincial and awkward.

M. S. A.: The only way to make the eyebrows dark permanently is to treat them with a dye. This would be so difficult that I would not advise you to do it. You can touch the brows up very lightly with an eyebrow pencil. If you will do it carefully enough it cannot be detected.

Rose Bud: A girl 19 years old, 5 ft. 2 in. tall should weigh about 113 pounds. You probably have not attained your full height. Many people keep on growing until they are 21 years old.

R. V. K.: You face is thin and neck and cheeks hollow because you have been ill. Undoubtedly as you grow stronger the little wrinkles and crow's feet will disappear of themselves. The electric vibrator treatments will do you a great deal of good because they will stimulate the skin and bring up to it fresh healthy blood. But the real cure for you is about nine hours sleep at night, as much outdoor air as possible, and simple nourishing food.

Miss C. Z.: I do not think that changing from city to country air could be the cause of falling hair and pimples. However, in some parts of the country the air is so dry that the skin becomes rough and the hair loses its lustre, unless specially treated.

The formula for an excellent hair tonic appears from time to time in this space. However, if you will send me a letter with a self-addressed stamped envelope enclosed, I will mail you the formula. You will have to treat the pimples by dieting.

Brown eyes: If you hair is very dry, you probably are suffering from what they call dry dandruff. The best cure for any sort of dandruff is oil. I would advise you to massage the scalp with crude oil, heated as hot as the scalp can stand it, or with sulphur ointment. Sulphur is splendid for any skin trouble.

As these oil heavy they should be used a day or two before the scalp is shampooed. The only soap, by the way, that should be used on a dry scalp is either plain or medicated castile.

THAT WHICH YOU DON'T QUITE GET

Walt Whitman, in writing of Lincoln's face, has this to say: "None of the artists or pictures has caught the deep though subtle and indirect expression of this man's face. There is something else there."

The artist is great for what he conveys from you, but which you applaud!

We strive for ideals beyond us. We are thrilled by what we gain from toil and long years of waiting and patience—but that which we receive is not the biggest thing that makes our heart warm and our face to smile. It's that which we don't quite get.

The lover clothes his sweetheart with perfected beauty. Her merest expression to him is sweeter than the smoothest melody in his ears. If he could understand her and she would solve herself to him in all that she is, the castle in which he has found her would crash to earth.

It's the something else that is there in those we love that binds us to them.

Outside my bedroom window a branch from a tall tree waves to me every morning. On this branch lately I have watched a gray bird sing marvelous songs. Its little throat vibrates with happy melodies. And though it sits but a few feet from my gaze still it does not fear but goes through its concert with evident pride and pleasure. But it's what that bird thinks of me—a funny looking human being—that I would like to know.

The mystery of not knowing—it is this that drives us all on—and

THE LUCKLESS DAY.

This morn, alack, there was a tack, on which I placed my trilby; "such luck," I said, "fills me with dread—this day a lemon will be." Hour after hour my luck was sour, misfortunes drove me dotty; I stubbed my toes and broke my nose against a doorpost knotty. I took a drink of dark blue ink, mistaking it for water, aimed at a fly, and my aunt's eye received the swizzling swatter. Oh, all the fates and kindred skates to punish me seemed banded; I fell down stairs and broke some chairs and sofas where I landed. And every jay has known a day when all things seemed conspiring to make him smart and break his heart and tangle all his wiring. Such days there be, and then we see what stuff a gent is made of; if he is cheap he'll wail and weep at bogies he's afraid of. But if he's strong he'll toil along; "the jinx," he'll say, "will vanish; tomorrow's luck, I'll bet a buck, will all the fantods banish." Most days are bright; they treat us right, they're days to be respected, and if one day seems bleak and gray, we should not be dejected. Day after day I quit the hay, my spirits high and soaring, I stub no toes, I break no nose, no tacks are on the flooring. All things are good, I knock on wood, and chant in high soprano; the luck is just, I do not bust the sofa or piano.

SEE HIGHER SUGAR PRICES FOR THIS COUNTRY IS WORD

Washington, Jan. 16.—Higher prices for sugar may be expected according to the results of an investigation into the situation in the sugar industry made public Sunday night by the commerce department.

"The market," the department said, "is now entirely uninfluenced by any artificial control and the present low price level manifestly cannot long continue without restricting the production of sugar to the world's demands and again creating high prices."

In its investigation the department found that there is an abnormal "visible" world surplus of sugar amounting to about 1,200,000 tons congested in the Western Hemisphere. "Invisible" stocks of sugar in the hands of wholesalers and retailers were estimated at from 300,000 to 400,000 tons below normal, due to apprehension of further fall in the prices.

The world production of sugar for 1922 was estimated by the department to be less by from 400,000 to 800,000 tons than production for 1921, while consumption for 1922 it was thought would be larger than in 1921 and with general economic recovery should exceed production and thus absorb some of the surplus. The present price of $1.87 for "O. & F." raw sugar was declared to be the lowest level for 20 years and to be the lowest production cost of about 90 per cent of both domestic and Cuban sugar.

Styles BY LENORE

Grey crepe de chine, with old blue duvetyne and a girdle of violet and coral crepe de chine, make a most unusual and highly decorative afternoon frock that is not the least bit "loud" despite the combination of so many colors.

Of course the secret lies in choosing just the right shades. In any event, it is a model with which a certain Fifth Avenue customer has had much success and I suspect the sleeve, as much as the color scheme, has had much to do with it. The charming effect is accomplished with coral beads. And is not this design a good foundation for remodeling some worn out frock?

Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs

By Mrs. George Elliott McCormick.

It will be interesting news to Ohio club women that Minnesota will present the name of Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, of Minneapolis, or re-election as president of the general Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Winter, a member of the advisory council of the arms-limitation conference, has made a notable record as general Federation president and her administration is distinguished for the many outstanding accomplishments that have attracted nationwide attention. The general Federation biennial is to be held at Chautauque, N. Y., during the week of June 22.

Mrs. William H. Sharp, Columbus, past president of the Ohio Federation and this state's director of the general Federation, who attended a general board meeting in Chicago Jan. 3, 4 and 5, reports that one of the important matters disposed of was the decision to purchase a general Federation club home in Washington. This home is located on N Street, northwest.

Another very interesting topic at the general board meeting, Mrs. Sharp says, was the Chautauque biennial and the general discussion of plans for it.

Among the many things taken up was the candidacy of Miss Lucille Atcherson, Columbus, for a position in the United States diplomatic service. She was endorsed by the executive committee of the general Federation through the efforts of Mrs. Sharp. Miss Atcherson served in overseas work with singular success during the World War.

New State Parliamentarian
Mrs. Lillian Cole Bethel, No. 940 South Ohio Avenue, Columbus, has been appointed state parliamentarian for the Ohio Federation. She succeeds Mrs. C. S. Selover, Cleveland, now state federation president, the appointment of Mrs. Bethel being made by Mrs. Selover.

Mrs. Selover is kept extremely busy these days. January 7 she was the guest of honor of the Ashtabula county federation at Ashtabula January 14 she goes to Berlin Heights as the guest of the Erie county federation; January 18 at Youngstown and January 28 at Lima.

Ohio Federation Notes

At the December Federation meeting at Youngstown conducted at the Art gallery, Edwin Barlow Evans, teacher of English in the Y. M. C. A., discussed "Beacon Lights of Literature." He will also lecture at the February, March and April meetings. Distinguished speakers for a series of lectures for January to be held at Temple Rodef Tholem include Will Irwin, Miss Ida Tarbell and Dr. Stephen S. Wise. At the January meeting it was announced by the president, Mrs. J. F. Ritter, that the annual luncheon is to be conducted January 18 at Hotel Ohio. Mrs. Cornelius S. Selover, Cleveland, state president, is to be the guest of honor and will give a message of greeting. Mrs. W. D. Long, Indianapolis, will relate Southern dialect stories. Members of the Monday Musical Club will be in charge of the music. Hundreds of clubs throughout the state spread Christmas cheer in countless ways, reports that keep coming in disclose. At Youngstown the Arcade club cleared the mortgage on the home of a crippled widow.

FRANCE'S DESIRE ONLY SECURITY IS CLAIM MADE

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 10.—France's naval aims, as set forth by the Washington armament conference, were advanced "not with a view of attacking anybody," but because France must be in a position, in event of war, to rely upon herself only to protect her own coasts and to assure communication with her overseas possessions.

Maurice Casenave, financial adviser to the French delegation at the conference, explained in an address recently before the national council on the limitation of armament.

M. Casenave declared that the Washington conference was the "first of its kind in which appeal was made to public opinion, which from now on and most happily so becomes a new and important factor in diplomacy," since it brings about open criticism and this "admits free exposition of good reasons."

"The idea of France attacking England," he declared, "is morally criminal and materially stupid." He attributed the "surprise" aroused by the presentation of France's naval program to the lack of knowledge in America concerning that nation's overseas possessions.

His total area, he said, "slightly exceeds that of the United States, Alaska, Porto Rico and the Philippines combined," and which "are spread over the whole surface of the globe."

Despite this need of naval protection, M. Casenave declared, France, "in the presence of the sacrifices made by others," has shown itself "ready to sacrifice a large part of the program of capital ships," while "the question remains open for light cruisers and submarines."

MURDER CHARGED TO MOONSHINERS

Chicago, Jan. 10.—"Moonshiners must answer for murder," became the slogan of Coroner Peter M. Hoffman yesterday as he launched a drive against bootleggers whose product is alleged to have been responsible for four deaths in Chicago within the past 48 hours.

That he would ask Chief of Police Fitzmorris to instruct his men to seek the seller and arrest him in every case of crime where there is a possibility that moonshine may have been the dominant cause. He promised the aid of his own organization in prosecuting offenders.

HELPS MAKE RICH, RED BLOOD

Annually use organic Nuxated Iron to build up red blood, strength and endurance.

There are thousands of people who are ageing and breaking down at a time of life when they should be enjoying that perfect health which carries defiance to disease simply because they are not awake to the condition of their blood. Without organic iron your blood carries no oxygen, and without oxygen there is nothing to unite with the carbon in your food so what you eat does you no good. It is like putting coal into a stove without fire. You can now obtain organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils, and apples from any druggist under the name of Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron also contains the principal chemical constituent of active, living nerve force: it is, therefore, a true blood and nerve food. It helps create and rebuild new and stronger red blood cells. It feeds the body the substances which nerve force must have to give it that vital, electromagnetic power which is stored in the nerve and brain cells of man. Nuxated Iron often increases the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, rundown men and women in two weeks time. The manufacturers guarantee successful results to every purchaser or they will refund your money.

START CAMPAIGN FOR A PERMANENT HOME FOR LEGION

A campaign for a fund to establish a permanent home for Joseph P. Foody Post, No. 95, American Legion was launched at the first monthly meeting of the year 1922, Monday night when Legionnaires present pledged themselves to the amount of $555 for this purpose.

The first step in the campaign toward a building was taken when the Greene County Veterans of the Societies des 40 Hommes at 8 Chevaux, an inner organization of the Legion, at a meeting at the home of Jacob Colp last week, passed a resolution endorsing tentative plans suggested for such a permanent home campaign.

At a preliminary meeting of the legion executive committee, held Monday night, the resolution passed by the "Hommes" was read and endorsed by that committee, representing official action of the legion on the question. When the resolution and its subsequent endorsement by the executive committee were read during the meeting to the 350 members and non-members of the Legion in attendance, it was received enthusiastically and liberal pledges greeted the movement.

Jacob Colp, the new commander of Foody Post, had charge of the meeting, Monday night, and made public his committee appointments for the coming year. Chairmen selected will be required to appoint their own members. Commander Colp, who with Adjutant Carl Ervin will have charge of the Legion's part in distributing application blanks for the payment of soldiers' adjusted compensation in the county, explained how this work would be handled. Miss Martha Evers and Miss Elam, only two women members of Foody Post made brief talks at the meeting also.

The question of the formation of a branch of the "Dads of the Legion" here was taken up following the reading of a communication from James E. Lightfield, secretary of the organization which is comprised of fathers of legion members and the movement was heartily endorsed by legion members present. Commander Colp appointed Dr. C. H. Denner, former commander, as chairman of a committee to investigate the organization. Because the O. S. & S. O. Home-athletic department lacks funds for the transportation of athletic teams from the Home, an offering was taken up at the meeting for this purpose, netting $16.55. It was pointed out that the home had never failed to assist the legion when needed, and that the legion is grateful for this response.

Among officials from other Legion Posts who were present at the meeting were Commander McDonald and Adjutant Leo Phillips of the Yellow Springs Post; Commander McFarland and Adjutant Wright of the Cedarville Post; the Rev. Harvey E. Crowl, commander, and Adjutant Emery B. Kyle of the Osborn Post, Adjutant popular through bringing the employer and employee, together more easily. According to Miss Owens, many requests come to the Chamber of Commerce for salesmen of all kinds, stenographers, bookkeepers and office employees from local employers and numerous inquiries come from outside Xenia for local agents, representatives and managers, which the new department will aid.

John Batt of John Roan Post, and visiting officials from the vocational and university departments of Wilberforce University.

The crowd on hand taxed the accommodations of the Post Hall, and many were forced to leave because they were unable to get in or near enough to hear the chairman. The meeting was one of the largest ever held in the Foody Post quarters.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 600 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

TO TRY WOMAN; CHARGE POISONING

Wauseon, Jan. 10.—Mrs. Elsie Weber, 20, wife of Arthur Weber, Fulton County farmer, went on trial yesterday, charged with poisoning her father, Emil Greider, with intent to kill. Since her indictment by a Fulton county grand jury, Mrs. Weber has become a mother.

Greider, returning from a business trip to Defiance on May 21, last, ate dinner at his home and soon afterwards became violently ill, as did one of his children. A Wauseon physician, who attended Greider and the child, declared they had been poisoned. Both recovered.

The grand jury investigating the case, did not indict Arthur Weber, who had been arrested, but later returned an indictment against Mrs. Weber, charging her with mixing poison with the food and drink of her father with intent to kill him.

Efficient Housekeeping

M. J. H.: "Can you give me directions for a really good game to play at a wedding anniversary party?"

Answer: Indeed I can. I know of no jollier one than the following:

Wedding Anniversary game: This is a progressive game, played with large white squares of cardboard on which are written the letters of the alphabet. There are five tables the first one being labelled 'Names of the Wedding Guests'; the next one, 'Flowers in the Bride's Bouquet'; the third table bearing the placard, 'Foods Served at the Wedding Feast'; the fourth, 'The Wedding Gifts'; and the fifth tables being labelled, 'Cities Seen on the Wedding Journey.'

As there are four persons to a table, this game requires 20 persons. If, however the guests number less than 20, the hostess may simply omit one or two of the tables (it does not matter which). Partners are chosen as follows: Previously cut "wedding rings" out of cardboard, coloring these flat "rings" yellow (for gold) with a child's crayon. Now break each ring in two pieces unevenly putting the two parts of each ring in a different place. Give the men one set of these ring-pieces to draw from, and the ladies the other halves of the rings. A man and lady whose two broken ring pieces form a perfect ring when matched together are partners.

On each table, face down, lies a set of 26 fairly large, white squares of cardboard, each square bearing one letter of the alphabet. The four players are seated about the table and must take turns turning up the squares. When "A" is turned up on the table labelled 'Names of the Wedding Guests,' anybody who first thinks of a name beginning with "A" calls out that name ("Arthur" for instance, or "Anne" or "Amy"), and the player who is first to call such a name gets the

HELEN HUNTER'S HUSBAND

HELEN GAMBLES AT BRIDGE CHAPTER 9.

Jack Hunter had been inexpressibly shocked that Helen wanted no children.

"A woman who has children has to give up all her good times to take care of them," she said once about six months after they were married. Jack thought all women wanted children. He remembered how his mother used to say she couldn't live without them—how happy she was when they came.

"You see," Helen went on, "a woman who has money can have all the nurses and maids she wants to take care of them, but it ties a poor woman down, and leaves her no time to enjoy herself. When you are worth a hundred thousand you can talk of children."

She had spoken lightly, with a smile on her lips. Yet Jack knew she meant every word she said. Jack's ideas were turning topsy-turvy; rather, Helen was trying to turn them. Yet he was, like his mother, and clung tenaciously to some of them, although gradually he had learned not to air them to Helen.

"I shall have to take some bridge lessons, Jack. If I don't I shall lose my shoes. The women in the club play a wonderful game."

"You don't mean, Helen, that you play for money?" Jack was shocked. "Better pull right out if it is that kind of a club. What would his mother think if she knew his wife gambled for money? Not that Jack thought gambling for small amounts wrong for a man, but a woman! He was not yet educated up to the idea of equality of sex in some things.

"If I choose to go without clothes and use my money to win enough to buy what I like, better clothes, because I waited to make more, I can't see that it makes any difference to you. I suppose you think because your mother doesn't play bridge I shouldn't. But I'm not your mother, remember. I am young, and want to have a good time. And I intend to have it."

Jack had learned to keep control of his tongue whenever Helen told him what she would or would not do. He sighed. It did no good to argue with Helen. If he tried she made him so uncomfortable that he soon desisted. So now he said nothing more about the bridge club, save to warn Helen that should she lose he would not, because he could not, pay her debts.

Jack noticed the meals were becoming very skimpy but, guessing the cause, said nothing. She was using the house money for bridge lessons. She already played a fair game, so he would say nothing, for she would need but a few lessons to become as expert as the others.

"Just watch me show that club how to play bridge this afternoon!" she said, about a month after she started taking lessons. "My teacher says I can play well enough now. I finished my course of lessons yesterday."

"I am glad!" Jack did not explain whether he was glad the lessons were finished, or that she would show the others how to play bridge.

"I probably shall be late getting home, so if you get in first, start the dinner going," Helen said when Jack kissed her goodbye.

It was long after 7 when Helen came in, her face flushed, her eyes shining. Jack greeted her pleasantly, although he had been home since 5:30 and inner had been ready to serve since 7 o'clock.

"Well did you show them how to play bridge?" Jack asked.

"You bet I did! I knew I was going to win before we commenced to play. Just count that!" gleefully she took a roll of bills from her purse and threw them at him.

"Twenty-eight dollars!" Jack announced in a voice of wonderment.

"Yes, $28 in a couple of hours—more than you can earn in a half a week! I'll soon make enough to pay the house back for my lessons, then I shall be on velvet."

"But, Helen! Suppose you had lost $28 instead of winning it. How could you have paid it?"

"For throwing cold water you beat anyone I ever knew. Most men would be proud and praise a wife who won from women who have been playing together for ages. I believe all you think a woman is good for is to keep house for a man."

Helen ake scarcely anything. Jack didn't wonder. The skimpy dinner was cold, and she entertained him with an account of the wonderful refreshments the hostess of the day had given them. No wonder she wasn't hungry—he would have enjoyed some of those goodies himself.
